

Leonardo Da Vinci

Leonardo Da Vinci was born on April 15, 1452 in Vinci Italy. Vinci is a town outside of Florence, Italy. Florence is a well known city in Italy. Leonardo grew up with his father, Ser Piero Da Vinci.

When Leonardo turned 15, he became an apprentice painter. Very close after then, he made he made his very first painting alone. It was named The Baptism of Christ. Some other paintings Leonardo made later in his life were named the Genevra De Binci, The Last Super, The Lost Battle of Anghiari, and the most famous painting, The Mona Lisa.

Leonardo Da Vinci also made weapons for many Italian military groups. He made weapons such as a tank, a machine gun, and a very big crossbow. Leonardo's crossbow was so big, that it was 27 feet long! It also has three wheels on each side, six wheels total. The crossbow was made out of thin wood. Unlike regular crossbow's, Leonardo made big rocks or fire balls to shoot.

Leonardo also made flying machines. He made a helicopter and a flying machine human's use to fly.

That's some things I know about Leonardo Da Vinci. I hope you liked my Da Vinci page.
