

Robinson Cano

Robinson Cano plays for the Yankees and was born Oct, 22, 1982 in San Pedro de Macoris in Dominican Republic. Jackie Robinson is Robinson Cano's idol and his dad played triple A.

January, 24, 2001 he signed with the Yankees. He gave up shirt number 22 for 24 because of Roger Clements and he didn't take number 42 out respect of Jackie Robinson.

Cano won a gold glove in 2010 and won one in 2012. A gold glove means you're better than everyone in your AL league if you're in the AL Division. If you're in the NL league you're better than everyone in the NL Division. Cano plays second base and has recently signed with the Yankees for 5 years 44 million dollars.
