

Should kids have a face book or not

I think kids should have a face book for communication .For stuff like talking to friends or keeping in touch with family and friends far away. Face book also informs you of the deals and the news and weather.

Face book also allows you to play games. Face book also lets kids express themselves. They customize their face book walls with pictures and post messages for friends to see.

Face book is good for planning events like parties or weddings. You can also post about family events. Like funerals or family vacations or birthdays

In conclusion I think face book is good for kids or communication, games, planning party's and talking about vacation and posting pictures.
