

The Long Day

An argumentative essay

By Connor Bulger

Should the school day be longer? People think that our school days should be longer while others say that they should not. In Chicago they just lengthened the school day. There are many arguments for and against lengthening the school day. In this essay I will show both sides of the argument.

Some people think our school day should be longer. A thing that may be good about a longer day is we would have more time for learning. With more time we could have more subjects like Spanish, or a Technology class. Also we could have P.E. every day if the day was longer. With more exercise we could limit the amount of obese people.

Other people think that the day should not be longer. A bad thing about having a longer school day is that it may interfere with parents' jobs or after school activities like sports. Also longer school days could make children not be able to spend enough time with their family.

In conclusion a longer school day might be good for learning, but also may change some things after school activities like sports. I think that it would be a good idea to have at least ONE extra hour. We would have another hour for learning.
